CAUGHT IN WRINGER; ARM TORN FROM BODY

Maggie Brickett, Employee of Troy Laundry, is Caught in Machinery and Frightfully Mangled

Trinidad, Colo. (Special)—July 8.—While working at the extractor in the Troy Steam Laundry where she was employed, Miss Maggie Brickett met with a frightful accident about 5:30 o'clock last evening which will cause her death, probably before this paper reaches its readers.

Miss Brickett caught her hand in the machinery, which drew her arm in to the shoulder and whirled her around in the air at a terrible velocity, pulling the arm from the socket at the shoulder, tearing her left side so that the lung was exposed, split her lips and knocked out seven teeth, besides terribly lacerating her face, neck and upper part of her body, then hurling her to the floor a bleeding, unconscious mass of mangled humanity that caused a panic among the twelve or fourteen lady workers who were eye witnesses to the awful tragedy, causing two of them to faint, while others screamed in fright and some were stricken dumb at the bleeding, mangled girl, who, a few seconds before, was a laughing, happy soul.

To add to the awfulness of the spectacle, her hair caught in the machinery and she was scalped, only a small tuft of hair not as large as your hand remaining on her head.

Miss Ora Dunlap was in the front office tying up bundles and as soon as she heard the agonizing scream of the unfortunate girl she telephoned for Dr. John R. Espey before she really knew what happened, and he arrived with Dr. Hill in less than five minutes. After making a hurried examination the injured girl was hurried to the hospital, where everything possible is being done, but the physicians have no hopes of her recovery.

Should Miss Brickett live she will be horribly disfigured for life and it would seem at this writing that this is one case where death would be a welcome relief, as her suffering is beyond the power of a human being to realize.

George Cherry, manager of the laundry, stopped the machinery while the physicians were being summoned and rendered all possible assistance to the panic-stricken employees and the injured girl.

The sight was too much for those unfortunate enough to witness it, but it was some time before quiet reigned and the faint employees re-

PRINCE HELIE
WEDS ANNA

London, July 7.—Madame Anna Gould and Prince Helie de Sagan were married at a registry office in Henrietta street, off Covent gardens, today. A subsequent ceremony was conducted at the French Protestant church on Soho square.

There was absolutely no secrecy about the wedding. Prince Helie last night announced to representatives of the American and French newspapers that all difficulties having been overcome and arrangements having been completed, the marriage ceremony would occur immediately upon the opening of the registry office in Henrietta street this morning. Notwithstanding this, the prince and Mme. Gould made a determined effort to escape the crowd. They had a large motor car waiting at the hotel. When the hour for them to leave arrived, however, the couple, accompanied by three friends, left the hotel by a rear entrance and entering ordinary cabs, drove to the back entrance of the registry office.

The civil ceremony was simple. Outside of Prince Helie, Mme. Gould, the witnesses and the offi-it was proceeding several photographers who had come in with the party took snap shots of the couple as they stood at the altar.

Mme. Gould and Prince Helie both answered the usual questions in a firm voice, but the bride turned nervously to the small congregation when the quietness of the church was disturbed by the clicking of cameras.

The news that the Prince de Sagan and Mme. Gould had been married in the Soho Square church got about quickly and by the time the party was ready to leave the building a big crowd had gathered in the street in front. After a few introductions to members of the pastor's family, Prince Helie de Sagan and his wife, followed by the witnesses and the prince's secretary, made their way to the carriages. The crowd outside promptly stood aside to let them pass through.

BAND OF RELIGIOUS FANATICS LURE
GIRL FROM HOME

Cleveland, O., July 7.—Declaring that his sister Bertha, 20 years old, was being led across the country through the influence of a party of alleged religious fanatics, Alexander H. Meyer, deputy United States marshal of New York, has asked the Cleveland police to locate the girl.

Two patrolmen were detailed to find Miss Meyer. A woman who is leader of the band, refused to give any information as to the girl's whereabouts or to divulge to the officers her own name, although she did not deny knowledge of the girl's whereabouts.

HEAT KILLS TWENTY-ONE

New York, July 7.—After a breathless, sweltering night, during which many spent sleepless hours on cots, fire escapes and in the open streets, the sun came up this morning with promise of even greater discomfort. As early as 6 o'clock the streets were blistering hot and not a breath of air was moving.

At 9 o'clock the weather man reported 84 degrees, but in the meantime the humidity had fallen from 78 to 73. As always, the greatest suffering was felt in the crowded tenement districts.

There was little sleep for the occupants of these places last night. All through the night came calls to the hospitals to go to the aid of unfortunates who had found the abnormal conditions too severe a strain upon them.

Physicians and nurses were doing double duty, extra forces were called in to replace the exhausted animals that had been tearing through the streets all day yesterday, and last night with the heavy ambulances, and double and triple supplies of ice and milk were ordered to meet the unusual demand occasioned by the heat cases which came to the hospitals.

When the early morning list of victims of the heat wave, was made up today it was found that twenty-one persons in the greater city had died as a direct result of weather conditions during the past twenty-four hours. Reported prostrations numbering hundreds and thousands, not so seriously affected, were treated at their homes by private physicians.

Philadelphia, July 7.—Four deaths and more than fifty prostrations occurred in this city from heat between noon yesterday and 10 o'clock this morning. The intense heat which is accompanied by a high percentage of humidity, is causing great discomfort. The government thermometer on the top of the postoffice building at 10 o'clock registered 85 degrees and street thermometers registered several degrees higher. The humidity at the same hour was recorded officially at 83 per cent.

of this place saved three men from drowning in Turkeyfoot lake in the midst of a storm by prompt action with their power-boat. A cripple who was in the overturned boat was kept up by his wooden leg until help arrived.

The three fishermen were from Massillon. Their rescuers did not know them, except that one was named Ewald and another Heck. They hired a boat and were some distance from shore when a terrific storm struck the lake. The waves were several feet high and the boat was swamped and the occupants turned into the water. All three could swim a little and struck out for shore.

Wilson and McLean were the only other persons on the water and were a quarter of a mile away when they heard the cries of the three men. Two of the swimmers were on the point of exhaustion when they were drawn into the launch. The cripple had made his way half of the distance to the shore and had gone under. His body was kept up by the buoyancy of his wooden leg, which prevented him from sinking. He was pulled into the motor-boat and revived after reaching shore.

WIDOWER'S HEART IS VALUED AT ONE CENT

St. Louis, Mo., July 7.—Widowers' hearts are quoted here at one cent; at least that was the valuation placed on one in Justice Sander's court. Emil Vorhauer, who is past middle age, figured in the proceedings, as did Miss Meta Giesler, who is 18 years old.

He says that she proposed to him, and later turned him down. Besides asking for damages for his broken heart, he also sued for the return of various ante-nuptial gifts.

Miss Giesler laughed when her alleged engagement to marry Vorhauer was mentioned to her. She said: "I never had any intention of marrying him. If he wants his dress back, he will have to hunt up the ragman to whom I sold it when it was worn out. The diamond ring has been lost. He can have it if he can find it. The ostrich plume is in tatters. He could have had that without suing for it."
